The image shows a close-up, low-angle view of a multi-story brick building. The facade is composed of reddish-brown bricks with a prominent grid pattern of windows. The windows are dark-framed and arranged in a regular grid. The brickwork is detailed with horizontal and vertical bands of bricks, creating a textured, three-dimensional effect. The lighting is bright, casting shadows that emphasize the depth of the brickwork and the grid structure.

SMITHFIELD LOFTS

Never leave home

Smithfield Lofts will bring the finest standards of purpose built residential living to one of the UK's most important and exciting cities.

One of the UK's most important international trade and business cities with one of the fastest growing economies in the country makes for an enticing opportunity for owners and investors alike. Currently, the UK's strongest investment city in the country, Birmingham's profile will grow exponentially in the coming years, much of this activity centred around the new 'city core' of Smithfield.

Smithfield will be a dynamic place with something for everyone. At its heart will be the new market alongside a festival square and new cultural spaces, business and leisure space, including hotels, cafés, restaurants and bars. The Green space at Smithfield Park will provide new and improved walking and cycling routes, as well as a green pedestrian boulevard helping to connect the Bull Ring to the wider city centre and sustainable transport connections.

THE HISTORY

SMITHFIELD LOFTS

THE HISTORY

Smithfield was the name of the iconic wholesale market site in the town center from 1817. The site of a former manor house, it was the place where livestock and other farm produce were traded in various streets up until the advent of the Bull Ring Development projects in the mid 1960's.

Inspired by a pioneering past of industry and endeavour, Prosperity Living will build a modern landmark that honours and celebrates this proud heritage, creating a place and community for like-minded individuals that's curated for modern living.

Rooted in history and influenced by New York's iconic Meatpacking District the Smithfield Lofts concept will provide a vibrant urban lifestyle woven into the city's prospering cultural quarter. A great place to submerge yourself in a fusion of city living, hip independents, premier dining and world class arts.

A historical black and white photograph of a busy street in Birmingham, England. The street is filled with people, horse-drawn carts, and a tram. Buildings line the street, many with signs for businesses like 'ALFRED WOODWARD', 'COFFEE HOUSE', 'MITCHELL'S A', and 'DROVERS' ARMS'. The scene captures the bustling atmosphere of a 19th-century industrial city.

THE EXPERIENCE

Already established as a prosperous, high-growth investment city, it's Birmingham's future growth projections and key infrastructure projects that make it such an exciting investment location for global investors.

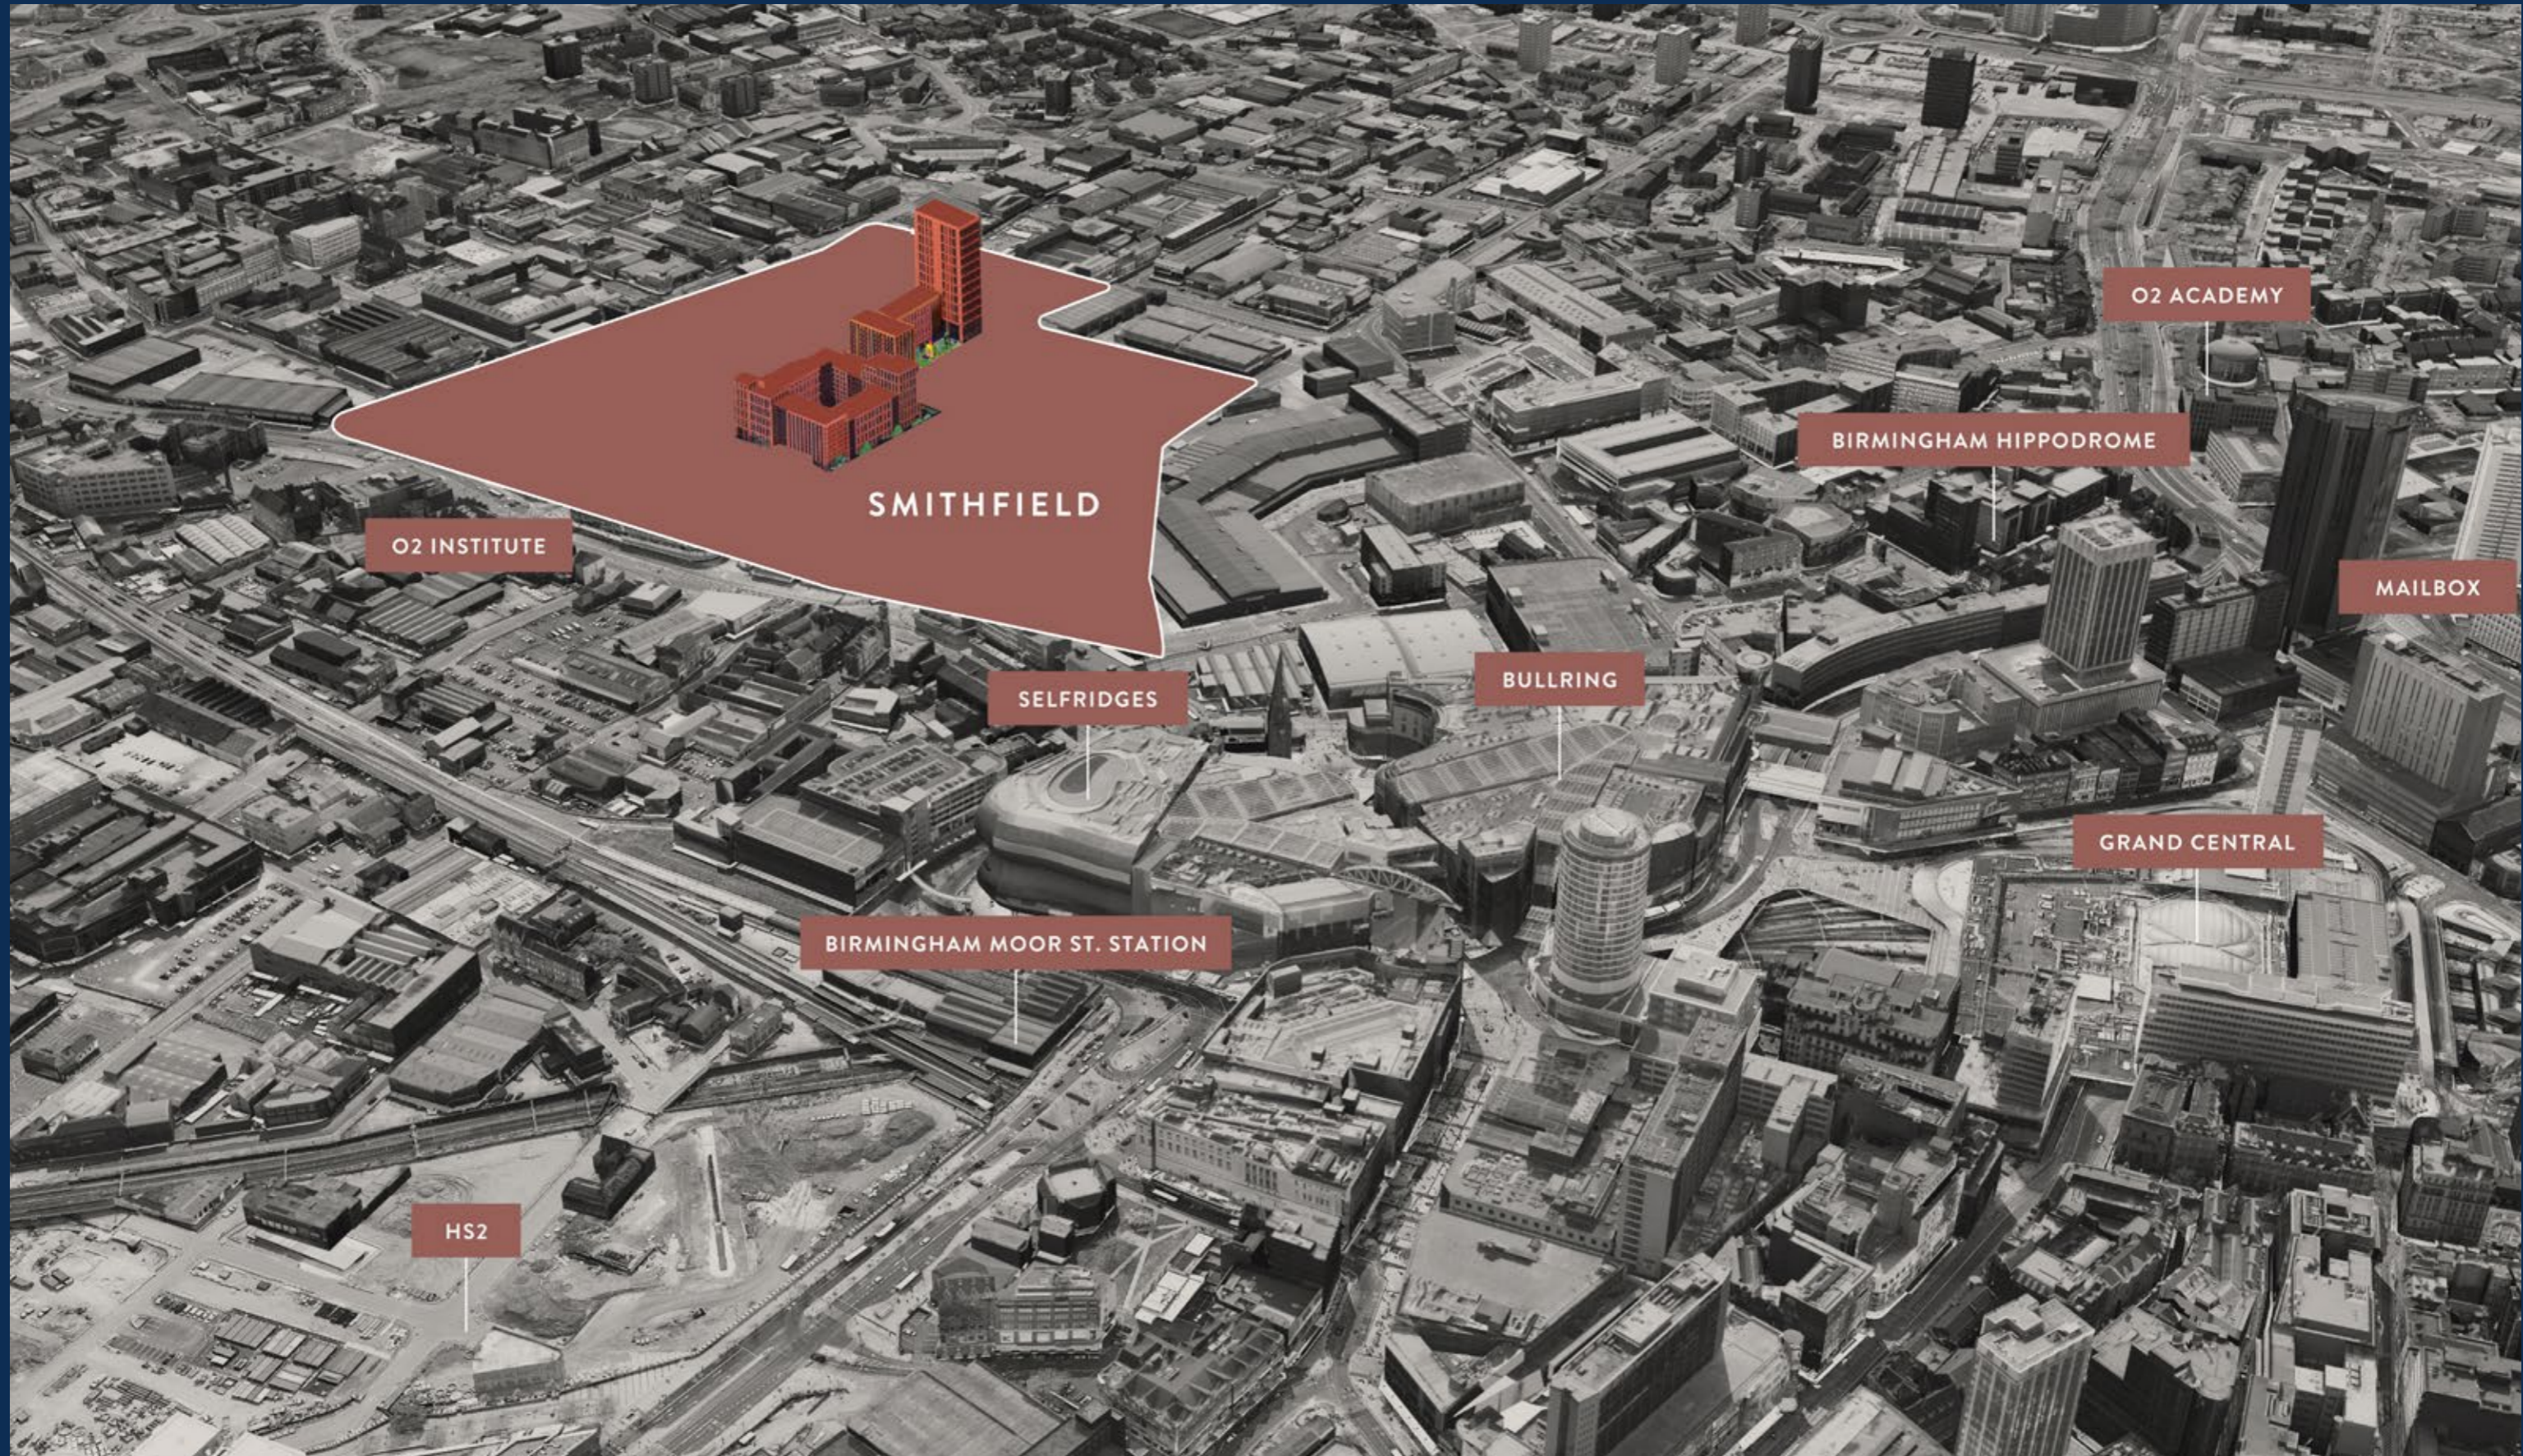

Located just minutes from the central finance and leisure district, Smithfield Lofts will be at the heart of an exclusive new neighbourhood in the thriving creative quarter of Digbeth, Birmingham's former industrial heartland and part of the vibrant Eastside District.

A place currently undergoing a once in a generation transformation, the £1.9bn Smithfield regeneration project will be pivotal in the wider, long-term regeneration of Birmingham. The scheme will provide a new home for the city's historic Bull Ring markets, outstanding new leisure and cultural spaces, including a festival square and landscaped park, integrated public transport, and thousands of new community facilities.

The site will be an international destination, created and shaped by local people – building upon a rich diversity in the city and providing a place for Birmingham's communities to come together and share experiences and new ideas.

Smithfield will be a dynamic place with something for everyone. At its heart will be the new market alongside a festival square and new cultural spaces that will allow Birmingham's musical and artistic communities to come together.

Alongside the new market and festival square will be business and leisure space, including hotels, cafés, restaurants and bars, helping to create a range of new employment opportunities with an estimated 8,000 jobs.

The plans also include space for over 3,000 sustainable and modern homes in a green setting, supported by a range of community facilities and green space at Smithfield Park, which will improve wellbeing and biodiversity.

INNOVATIVE

Digbeth is a Birmingham neighbourhood with limitless potential. Tanneries and blacksmiths have given way to film production, gaming and creative agencies - this is a place that celebrates the industrious, the individual and the inventive spirit.

ILLUSTRIOUS

A location defined by choice and luxury. From the desirable brands at the Bullring & Grand Central, Harvey Nichols, Selfridges and Mailbox to the beautiful arcades and independents and historic markets in Digbeth, Birmingham is a shopper's paradise with plenty of great café bars and restaurants to ensure you stay relaxed and refreshed.

Connected

INTERNATIONAL

From global businesses to British greats, Birmingham has seen names as RBS, HSBC, Goldman Sachs, KPMG and Deutsche Bank make this their home. No longer seen as just the UK's 'second city', Birmingham's now first-class for big business.

Cultured

This is Smithfield

INSPIRING

Brainchild of Peaky Blinders creator Steven Knight 'Brummiewood' in Digbeth, will be a multi million pound media village comprising of film and TV studios, and space for houses, bars and restaurants. The 39 acres earmarked for the media village will be 'a two minute walk' from the proposed Birmingham Curzon Street HS2 station.

Time to get on board

Smithfield will be the main beneficiary of a number of key infrastructure projects such as High-Speed 2 (HS2) and the conclusion of the city's Metro lines which will accelerate the growth of the city's economy, population, and – subsequently – its property market. The time to secure assets in Smithfield Birmingham is now.

Improvements to accessibility will see Smithfield gratefully absorbed into the heart of Birmingham's city centre, including the creation of walking and cycling routes, as well as a green pedestrian boulevard helping to connect the Bull Ring to the wider city centre and sustainable transport connections.

The city of Birmingham is now set to be the primary beneficiary of the HS 2 High Speed train link:

- Journey times between London and Birmingham reduced to just 49 minutes.
- A GBP 4 billion increase in Birmingham's economic output per year.
- 50,000 additional jobs in the West Midlands (26,000 of which would be in Birmingham/Solihull).
- Average price increases of 7% per annum since 2017 and set to continue in an upward trajectory for many years to come.
